HOW OFFICER'S SLAIN, VIVIDLY DEPICTED BY ARTIST

THIS DRAWING BY A BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN STAFF ARTIST GRAPHICALLY PORTRAYS THE SHOOTING OF PATROLMAN MCLEAN AS REVEALED IN THE ALLEGED CONFESSION OF EDMUND J. WALSH.

WALSH PLEADS FOR FORGIVENESS FROM FAMILY OF SLAIN OFFICER

From his cell in East Cambridge jail, Edmund J. Walsh today pleaded forgiveness from the family of Patrolman Isiah L. "Pete" McLean, shot and killed in Malden Tuesday by Walsh.

It was one of his first acts after he had changed from a weeping, wringing prisoner to a quiet youth, who soon must face trial for his life.

The letter, given for delivery to Attorney William R. Scharton, read:

"If I may be allowed to express my deepest condolence to the family of Patrolman McLean of the Malden police, though this message is coming from the man that has caused you the great grief, I want you to believe that I am making this statement from the bottom of my heart."

"I had not the thought of this crime in my mind and even now I cannot realize that it can be true. If the prayer of a guilty man to his God can mean anything, I am praying for Mr. Mc-

Lean and asking him, who is now with our Maker, for his forgiveness. "Edmund J. Walsh."

Attorney Scharton carried the letter from the cell after a short interview with the accused, but he said Walsh again pleaded with him that his wife and two babies be "left out of this."

A court session was arranged for later today as that Attorney Scharton could formally be appointed counsel under the law which provides court-appointed counsel for those who cannot pay for defense.

Walsh was reported by Sheriff Joseph M. McElroy to have charged considerably since the crying spell that last night of the night. At breakfast, the sheriff said, Walsh ate heartily of boiled eggs, bread and coffee. He ceased weeping, WOUNDED HAND DRESSED. During the morning, the hand that he shot while drawing his revolver in a struggle with Patrolman McLean, was dressed by Dr. John Nelligan, jail physician.

Sheriff McElroy ordered guards near Walsh's cell to watch any attempt at suicide, although the state will move to send Walsh to the electric chair.

Among them were a set of 1933 registration plates that were painted over to the 1934 color and a number of automobile keys that were found in Walsh's Stoneham home.

MEXICO TO BAR PRIESTS' FUNDS

By International News Service Mexico City, Nov. 14.—With the avowed object of depriving Catholic priests of means to oppose the government in its war on the church, a resolution was introduced in the Chamber of Deputies today proposing that the collection of alms in churches be prohibited.

Governor Saturnino Orosio of Queretaro, one of the most deeply religious sections in Mexico, delivered another blow at the church today by decreeing that only three priests—one for every 200,000 population—may function in his state.

Last week, Saturnino proposed that all priests be executed for "treason" against Mexico.

Habibi Abraham Teneal of the Syrian Church of Chicago was taken into custody today for conducting services. He was charged with violation of a constitutional provision barring ministers of foreign nationality from serving in Mexico.

Flies at City Hall and on other public buildings were to be half-staff in respect to the oldest and first-ranking policeman who died in the performance of his duty.

Funeral services will be at the McLean home at 55 Echo street, Malden, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. W. Quay Roselle, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Malden, will officiate. An Odd Fellows service will probably be held also.

Six senior patrolmen of the Malden police department will be bearers. They are Frederick J. Devaney, William J. Barrett, Abbott W. Clark, John T. Durning, Patrick J. Nolan and Albert Osterfield.

Interment will be at the Wyomissing Cemetery in Melrose. Mrs. Lena McLean, widow of the slain policeman, was still overcome by grief and had not announced the family plans for the funeral.

Just what part the attractive young wife of the prisoner, Walsh, will play in the alleged murderer's fight to escape the death penalty is not yet known.

COUNSEL RETAINED

Attorney William R. Scharton, who has been retained to head Walsh's defense counsel, told reporters that the young mother of Walsh's two babies promised to stand by him. According to the lawyer, she said:

"Eddie is a good husband. He tried to look out and support me and the two children. I will love him and will assist him in every way I can."

Attorney Scharton declared that Mrs. Walsh has also promised to take the witness stand when Walsh is brought to trial and tell the court of his "kindness and goodness as a husband and father."

GERMANS JAIL U. S. GIRL

By International News Service Le Havre, Nov. 14.—An American girl is serving a two-month sentence in a Hamburg, Germany, jail for alleged theft of a ring. It was revealed today upon the arrival of the American passenger liner from Manhattan from New York.

The prisoner, who was a stewardess named Miss Moran aboard the Manhattan, was accused by a Hamburg Jeweler of taking a ring after she and Miss Shirley, a ship's manicurist, visited the man's shop on the ship's last call there.

Search of their cabins failed to uncover the missing ring. Miss Shirley was released, but Miss Moran was sentenced to jail.

Captain Prind, famous skipper of the Manhattan, will attempt to procure Miss Moran's release tomorrow when the ship again calls at Hamburg.

DRIVER Needled ON JOB

BOSTON TRUCK TAKEN BUT CONTENTS ARE FOUND INTACT

By Associated Press
Portsmouth, N. H., Nov. 14—Police today were searching for a man who allegedly rendered the driver of a transportation company truck unconscious by injecting a hypodermic into his arm after boarding the truck in Salisbury, Mass., last night.

The truck driver, Edgar Everett, 28, of Portsmouth, told police he regained consciousness two hours after the attack in the Hampton-Salisbury marshlands, nine miles from the scene of the holdup. The contents of the truck, owned by the Pickering Rand Company of Portsmouth, were intact.

Everett told police that he was en route from Boston to Portsmouth when he was stopped by the man at the Salisbury side of the Newburyport (Mass.) bridge. The man boarded the truck and, almost immediately, he said, he felt a sharp pain, as though a needle had been thrust in his arm. He said he remembered nothing further until he regained consciousness in the marshlands.

The truck had been driven two miles off the main highway, said he walked to the main highway and obtained transportation to Portsmouth.

NO CROWN For Little Peter

By Associated Press
Belgrade, Nov. 14—Little King Peter II of Yugoslavia does not yet wear his father's throne chair, but he was given permission by his mother today to sleep in the bed left vacant by King Alexander's assassination. Dorsing the nursery cottage where he had lived with "Tommy" and "Andy," his baby brothers, Peter asked his mother, the Dowager Queen Marie, if he might henceforth occupy De Sime's large place where his father lived. She immediately consented, because she is anxious, in the words of Peter's grandmother, the Dowager Queen Marie, to see "that rooms once so full of life should not become empty shells."

So Peter's mother placed over the royal bed a painting of the late King in full military uniform, riding his favorite snow-white horse.

Discussing Peter's future, the royal grandmother said: "The most precious to all boys—his childhood—sometimes wonder if the constant apprehension and inquiring look in his big brown eyes is a foreboding of his future."

PROMOTED

Three "promotions" without a raise in pay, and four appointments were made in the administration of the EDA, according to State Administrator Arthur G. Koch.

One of the new appointments is Judge William Welch of Northampton, who was elected to the position of revenue if the reported resignation of Joseph P. Carney took place. He is to be regional administrator of Hampshire County. The promotions were given to department heads, making them assistant state administrators.

Just one of ten. That's all Franchot Tone ranks, it seems, when Joan Crawford lists her Hollywood friends. When a magazine writer said that the film colony was a poor place to form warm acquaintanceships, Joan was vexed. She counted off her own close pals on the fingers of her two pretty hands. Tone was included, but, to the surprise of the gossips, he received no special mention.

Teacher Quits Post, Plans Appeal

By Associated Press
Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 14—Miss Esther De Lee, 21-year-old teacher, today gave up her effort to remain in the Pompey Hollow rural schoolroom from which she was "fired" last week by a rural school trustee in an argument over the display of the American flag, and there were indications that an immediate appeal to the State Department of Education was to be taken in her behalf.

The defiant and pretty brunette teacher could not be reached today, but presumably was at her home in De Ruyter, 18 miles to the east. Her attorney, Francis Beale, with whom she had been in conference at Rome, declined to comment, but residents of District 20, in which the 12-pupil, one-room school building is located, said they understood the appeal was being made.

DUKE OF KENT ON COSTLY ADVENTURE

By International News Service
London, Nov. 14—The old tag which has it that it is "papa who pays" will be brought home forcibly to King George of England when he comes to foot the bill for the wedding of his youngest son, the Duke of Kent, to Princess Marina of Greece on November 29.

Only the sovereign's wedding, that of the heir-apparent and the sovereign's eldest daughter is paid by the treasury department, so this time King George will pay.

Statisticians estimate the royal father will have to sign checks aggregating $100,000 in connection with the wedding.

Of this sum, $50,000 will go toward paying for erection of stands, transportation of troops, food and wine at receptions, employment of pressmen, orchestra, etc. The other half will melt away in supplying the Queen's dresses for the wedding and for the three receptions preceding it and in personal gifts to the bride and groom.

For instance, $7,000 will go in supplying 50,000 extra rations of rum and gin to the officers and crews of the warships Iron Duke, Queen Elizabeth, and Hawkins and Durban. The Duke of Kent served on all these ships and tradition demands the crews drink his health—at his father's expense.

A few thousand dollars will pay for transportation to London of a guard of honor of the Duke's old shipmates of the various regiments to line the route, and of the military and naval bands.

Then there will be champagne for the officers and men for the soldiers and sailors on duty at the nuptials. Some six regiments will be there.

ICE PARTY TOUGH GOING FOR BYRD

By Associated Press
Little America, Nov. 14 (Via Mackay Radio)—A Byrd expedition tractor party attempting to explore an unknown area had reported today its progress was extremely difficult.

A belt of crevasses and pressure ridges in the Ross ice barrier, 165 nautical miles southeast of here, is making the attempt to break through an arduous one, the party advised by radio.

"We are hopeful we shall be able to penetrate this area. It is our opinion this belt of crevasses doesn't extend more than two miles. We have already traveled six miles of crevasses and believe can safely zig-zag the rest of the way."

Byrd believes the party may find the answer to a riddle of Antarctic, whether a sea level depression connects the Ross and Weddell seas where the party now is—in an unexplored area.

Killers in Subway! Pursuer at Heels

Police radio cars were rushed into action shortly after the chase began. They have been ordered to watch every exit on the Fourteenth street line into which the slayers first fled. Other policemen have been ordered to stand by at exits throughout the vast chain of underground tubes on the theory that the murderers may have switched lines.

Detectives believe the man trailing them will keep them in sight until he encounters a policeman. Clarence Drake, 44, manager of the chain store, had just opened the doors when the two slayers appeared and demanded he "take 'em out." Four times previously during his 15 years service with the company, Drake had heard that harsh demand. Three times he had obeyed and watched while hold-up men emptied his cash register.

Five Holdups

By International News Service
New York, Nov. 14—In one of the strangest chases in New York police history, two killer-gunsmen fled today through the underground tubes of the city's subway system, trailed by a lone pursuer, who followed them into a train after they had murdered the manager of a chain store in Brooklyn.

Battles Bandits

But last year he told neighbors "Never again will I let those mugs get away with it," and a few days later he had two robbers successfully chased them out of the store.

Drake sprang at the two hoodlums today but before he could grapple with them they opened fire. He fell with a bullet through his abdomen and died on the way to a hospital.

The woman proprietor of a candy store next door heard the shot and saw the two men flee. It developed they had not obtained a cent. The woman set up a cry and a group of men took up the chase.

The killers fled down the steps of a Fourteenth street subway station with an unidentified man at their heels. Behind him was a truck driver. The truck driver told the police that as the pair dashed through the door of a Manhattan-bound train about to move out their foremost pursuer slipped in behind them.

BRUNO COUNSEL DECLARES STATE 'DISTORTS FACTS'

Flemington, N. J., Nov. 14—Having charged the State with deliberately withholding evidence which favors Bruno Richard Hauptmann, the defense today renewed its demand for a full bill of particulars against the Lindbergh kidnap-murder suspect.

Elova Fisher, defense attorney, said the state has "distorted facts" which really tend to clear his client.

A report on behalf on the state came from Hunterdon County Prosecutor Anthony M. Hark Jr., who said it would rest with the defense to disprove the prosecution's charge against Hauptmann.

Mrs. Hauptmann said her husband hunted in New Jersey with Theodore Plach of the Bronx and a Garfield man known to her as "Johnny." Officials said "Johnny" was known to police and had been cleared of any connection with the kidnap case.

Fisher and Edward J. Kelly of Brooklyn, chief defense counsel, planned a conference here today on their demand for a bill of particulars by which they hope to elicit from the state an exact definition of the charges against Hauptmann.

PRAYERS SWEEP; U. S. DRIVE ON

By International News Service
Dublin, Nov. 14.—(Reut.)—A sweeping blow today by the protectionists in Britain of foreign interests, the Irish Hospitals Trust will be the bulk of contributions from hospital ticket purchasers in the Irish sweep.

Ticket sales in America have been steadily increasing since the sweep was inaugurated, and officials believe that three times as much revenue can be drawn from the United States as at present.

Operators of the sweep, however, frankly admitted that Britain's act will seriously affect the income for the next drawing, which is based on the famous Strand National Steeplechase next March.

RISK PROSECUTION

Officials felt that while many Britons will attempt to circumvent the provisions of the act, the vast majority will abstain from buying tickets in order to avoid the risk of prosecution.

One of the high officials of the hospitals' trust even gloomily predicted a drop of possibly two-thirds in receipts, although it was thought that increased selling efforts in America would shortly take up most of this loss.

Britain, up to now, has easily been first in contributions to the Irish second. Tickets are sold in practically every country.

Decline in ticket sales will also hit the revenue of the hospitals' trust in stamp taxes. Help from the Sweep was counted on to aid the Free State in her economic difficulties with Great Britain, and the public bitterly looked upon Britain's intention to shut out further any hope of Ireland's present differences over Ireland's refusal to pay the land annuities to Britain.

Commons Forbids All Government Lotteries

By International News Service
London, Nov. 14.—Outlawing the Irish Hospitals Sweepstakes, the House of Commons today passed the Betting and Lotteries Bill by a vote of 208 to 24. The former act of royal assent is expected immediately after action by the House of Lords.

Distribution of tickets for the Irish Sweep, even though it is an official government lottery, will henceforth be prohibited in England, Scotland and Northern Ireland.

Publication of the results of the drawings, which packs the newspapers for days several times a year with the names of lucky ticket owners, will be prohibited.

ment, etc. It is a comfort to know that there is no charge of stealing from the poor or the unemployed.

But Senator Borah does accuse the relief administration of shameful waste and bad management, so bad that half of the billions were appropriated in vain.

Senator Borah says perhaps he may vote to pay the soldiers' bonus now, a wise suggestion. The government needs to stimulate buying, distribute money among those that need it. Why not begin by paying what it actually owes to veterans and wait pay before long? Why not print a few more of those flat-inflation bonds and pay now instead of later? Veterans need the money and who else? It is literally in every part of the United States.

The government will spend twelve million dollars to tear down "ile tenement houses in the slums of Williamsburg, across the river in Brooklyn, New York. It will pay cash for old rickety, and delight the hearts of owners and speculators who have carried tenements, rent-free, for years, seeing no cash.

Police express satisfaction at the "breaking up of a tough district." The question is, what will become of the "tough" inhabitants of that tough district? Will they move into the nice low-rent apartments that the government will build, and cease to be tough, or will they move to another tough district?

Prayers to Aid Blind Mate Are Vain

By Associated Press
Chicago, Nov. 14.—(Reut.)—Lorey Willett, 76, blind, knelt last night in prayer.

"Dear God," she breathed, "give my husband, Lawrence, strength to recover. He's blind like myself, Lord, and we need each other."

There was a knock on the door. Mrs. Willett didn't hear it. A policeman entered. He saw her praying and stood silently a moment.

"You know, God, how Lawrence tripped and fell several days ago. He's in a hospital now. Please give him strength to come back to me, Amen."

The policeman stepped forward, put his arm on the blind woman's shoulder and delivered her message. It was that Lawrence, 75, had just died.

Widow Leaves Riches to Grocer

Brooklyn, November 14.—Judge Lovett E. Chamberlain in Probate court at Plymouth today allowed the will of Mrs. Eva Howell, 52, of Morland street, Brooklyn, who died September 11.

The bulk of her estate will be consumed by a $37,500 bequest to her son, Walter Howell, 32, of Sunnyside, 52, of Prospect street, Brooklyn, who showed his thoughtfulness by taking her for auto rides on her declining days. Distasteful relatives got a few minor bequests. Nine and a half of the woman's husband were inherited by her. She had no children.

COUNCIL MOVES TO AVERT 'U. S. DESTRUCTION'

By Associated Press
Washington, Nov. 14.—Economic security was advocated today by Frank P. Graham, chairman of President Roosevelt's economic security advisory council, to prevent the nation from drifting "into unregulated self destruction."

Graham opened a conference of business, labor, social service and economic leaders called to consider how economic security could best be forwarded by the federal government. He said:

"The old drift of society and the nations led to the following results: The insecurity of peace in a world of armaments; the loss of homes in a society built upon home ownership; the loss of land of plenty; child labor and sweat shops in the midst of unemployment; vast unemployment in a time of universal need; poverty and dependence after lives of faithful work, and disillusionment and despair in a world of youth and opportunity."

MUST BE LEGAL.
Americans who, with scientific knowledge and mechanical device, have won a physical mastery of this great continent, will not long stand baffled and afraid along the social frontiers of a civilization which has not mastered the hazards of modern society."

Graham emphasized, however, that the good of an aid order should be maintained in creating the new. He declared:

"This security is not to be achieved through tyranny and the regimentation of a dictatorship. 'Real security never comes at the sacrifice of real liberty. The people must preserve the substance and spirit of the old liberties through a new security. An increase in economic security should mean an advance in human liberty and social well-being.'"

Whatever unemployment insurance plan is finally adopted, said H. W. Story, vice-president of the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company of Milwaukee, it should at least tend to stimulate continued employment.

WAGES, NOT LOSE.
Story was the first speaker at the roundtable discussion of unemployment insurance. He said:

"Our problem is to attempt to find a plan that tends at least to prevent unemployment rather than payment for enforced idleness."

Problems surrounding legislation of insurance against idleness were cited by Professor Joseph H. Witte of the University of Pennsylvania, who presided.

He listed them: When would it be wise to begin unemployment insurance collections in order not to retard recovery? How would insurance be tied up with the relief system? Who would handle the funds? Should the system be on a state or national basis?

Work Relief Urged by Grange President

By Associated Press
Hartford, Conn., Nov. 14.—Work relief for the unemployed needy of the country rather than money payment was urged today before the National Grange by its master, Louis J. Taber, as he sounded a warning against the "breakdown of the honor of individuals and the American self-respect."

STEEL WORKERS STRIKE LOOMS

By International News Service
Washington, Nov. 14.—Steel workers and captains of the industry are circling themselves for a final fight on trade unionism and the guarantees of Section 7A of the Recovery Act, while President Roosevelt and the National Steel Labor Board are striving to avert the threatened event.

The battle has been threatening since October, when the San Francisco convention of the American Federation of Labor voted in support of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers.

When first three steel appeared in June, President Roosevelt issued an executive order creating the steel labor board.

Since its creation the board has held hearings on several demands of workers for elections, and during the hearings at Duquesne and McDonald plants of the Carnegie Steel Company, it was reported, officials of the U. S. Steel Corporation first moved toward a compromise. The compromise offer was refused by the workers.

A counter proposal was then made to the steel masters, through the steel labor board, but this second proposal was not accepted by the steel industry.

Home Appeals for Clothing

An appeal for contributions and warm clothing was issued today by the directors of the Boston Industrial Home, 17 Davis street, which cares for needy families and homeless men.

Contributions are sought in aid in feeding 500 people on Thanksgiving Day at the home. Former Mayor Malcolm E. Nichols is president of the Home. Clothes will be called for by officers of the institution if the donors will call Hancock 6861.

CHICOPEE MAY OPEN CITY SCHOOLS

Chicopee, Nov. 14.—Although Mayor O'Neil Dwyer has stated definitely that he will veto the measure passed by the Board of Aldermen to appropriate $25,000 from the income tax fund to reopen the schools here, there seemed a possibility today that the aldermen would override his disapproval.

The schools have been closed since November 8 when the $50,000 allotted to them for the term through December 1 became exhausted.

McVANN, ROSS, McGRATH WIN BY BIG VOTE

Intense interest manifested in the municipal primary contests in Massachusetts cities and towns was shown today when the votes were tallied. So many voted in Peabody that it was able to elect a mayor. Quincy added 71 per cent of its balloting strength.

Few upsets were reported, but the feature of the day was the vote for Mayor of James E. McVann in Peabody. He garnered more than a majority of 80 per cent of the required vote.

McVann, an attorney and a registered Republican, was automatically chosen as Peabody's chief executive. The city is recorded as overwhelmingly Democratic.

ROSS, McGRATH WIN

In Quincy, where Mayor Charles A. Ross and former Mayor Thomas J. McGrath were engaged in a hot four-cornered contest for two non-partisan nominations both won comfortably over the other aspirants. Mayor Ross carried every ward in the city.

Haverhill gave Mayor George E. Daly a comfortable win over McGrath 7022. Russell T. Bates, county commissioner, got 5291 ballots. Frank W. Hurre, former sanitation department foreman, was fourth with 3045.

BATES BACKS McGRATH

The vote was hardly counted when Commissioner Bates rushed to join the McVann camp in opposition to Mayor Ross' reelection.

There were spirited fights in the ranks of the aspirants for school committee, council-at-large and council seat in Ward 1.

Two were nominated for the first to the unexpected overterm of former Commissioner John J. Hurley from Ward 1. They were Ward 1, Ernest Mcintosh and Ernest Heidrick.

A field of 22 was out to seek the six nominations on the council-at-large ticket. Winners were: Laurence Curtis, Edward Carney, former councillor; Edward Sandberg, Mrs. Edna A. Austen, Myron Lane and George Currie.

The feature of this contest, in addition to the close nature of the large field was Mrs. Austen's winning a place.

In Haverhill, in addition to Mayor Daly, who got 7446 votes, and Attorney Pritchard, who got 4175, Albert Porto sought nomination. Porto was a poor third with 2167 votes.

Alderman Bernard L. Duggan and Hiram E. Prescott qualified for the finals, along with Warren O. Hunkins, another newcomer to politics.

Beauties Break Into the News in Love and War

She was "Miss America" of 1933. But when she married Mort Lewis, Jr., of Atlantic City next May, she'll no doubt have to change her title to "Mrs. America." Mother Told Body of Baby Girl Is Dorothy Ann

Hospital grounds late yesterday afternoon is that of Dorothy Ann Dietelhardt. While the corpse is in such a state of decomposition as to render identification by those who knew the child impossible, every other fact in connection with the matter points to the conclusion that the body is that of the Dietelhardt child.

Doctors Herman Spitz, pathologist, and Donald F. Pogue, children's dentist and orthodontist, specialists in their respective professions, after a careful examination of the teeth reported that the identification is certain and positive.

"The child was murdered. Her skull at the left side was crushed by a hammer or other blunt instrument. A rag was found in her mouth, possibly used as a gag to prevent an outcry, Sheriff's deputies, police, Department of Justice agents and investigators in my office are all working together in an effort to learn the motive for the homicide, as well as the party or parties perpetrating the crime."

Dr. Pogue said that the "identification was established definitely by the filling in the second upper right molar."

PROVED BY TEETH
Dr. Pogue had filled Dorothy Ann's teeth shortly before she disappeared last September 19 on her way home from kindergarten and said he recognized the filling in a tooth of the corpse as his work.

Although he also pulled two of Dorothy Ann's teeth and said the teeth were missing in the corpse, Dr. Pogue said he did not use this as a means of identification.

The conference bringing about the positive identification was held at the office of Dr. Spitz and lasted less than 20 minutes. The two physicians examined the skull from the body.

MOTHER TOLD
So many were investigators that the body found in a shallow grave yesterday afternoon is that of Dorothy Ann, that her mother, Mrs. A. E. Dietelhardt, was informed.

District Attorney General Loring said that Mrs. Dietelhardt's brother, Louis Hamilton, had broken the news to her yesterday by two Negro attendants of the Devon County Tuberculosis Hospital while they were digging flower beds. Under scarcely two inches of earth, it had been buried in a remote corner of the hospital grounds, where trees and bushes shielded the grave from sight.

Evangelist Freed in Kidnap Hoax
Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 14 (AP)—John J. M. Mordkin in Federal court today declared a verdict of acquittal for R. H. Ashby, young "Four-Square Gospel" evangelist of Goldsboro, who was charged with perpetrating a "kidnaping" hoax and attempting to collect $25,000 ransom from his wife.

When she was found by Anthony Capone, 12 of Johnston, who was able way to show her to the hospital. When she arrived they discovered a pile of bloodstained rocks 200 feet from where she lay. Near by were other large stones indicating they had been in the attack.

When Mrs. Mordkin was taken into the hospital she recovered consciousness and muttered in an incoherent voice:
"Three men hurt me. They kept hitting me with stones in their hands. They hit my head against the rocks. I think one of them was"—and she lapsed back into a coma.

Mother Told Body of Baby Girl Is Dorothy Ann

Hospital grounds late yesterday afternoon is that of Dorothy Ann Dietelhardt. While the corpse is in such a state of decomposition as to render identification by those who knew the child impossible, every other fact in connection with the matter points to the conclusion that the body is that of the Dietelhardt child.

Doctors Herman Spitz, pathologist, and Donald F. Pogue, children's dentist and orthodontist, specialists in their respective professions, after a careful examination of the teeth reported that the identification is certain and positive.

"The child was murdered. Her skull at the left side was crushed by a hammer or other blunt instrument. A rag was found in her mouth, possibly used as a gag to prevent an outcry, Sheriff's deputies, police, Department of Justice agents and investigators in my office are all working together in an effort to learn the motive for the homicide, as well as the party or parties perpetrating the crime."

Dr. Pogue said that the "identification was established definitely by the filling in the second upper right molar."

FIRE CAUSED BANK SNARLS TRAFFIC

Downtown traffic was demoralized in the busiest part of the forenoon rush period today by a fire in the building at Devonshire and State streets, headquarters of the Federal National Bank, now closed and the subject of endless litigation.

The fire broke out in the sub-basement where some of the records of the closed bank are stored. Government officials are investigating to ascertain if important records were destroyed. Damage was $2000. The cause has not been determined.

Billows of heavy smoke poured from the basement windows and filled streets in the financial district. The flames spread through a ventilator to the first floor.

Traffic quickly became clogged at one of the narrowest and busiest intersections in the city. Police reserves cleared it out.

Fire apparatus had a hard time getting through. A large crowd gathered and it was difficult to pass the scene even on foot. Hundreds were delayed in getting to work.

Lines of stalled autos filled Devonshire and Water streets, Washington and School streets. Dock Road Adams square, and as far away as the North End, the South End, and the West End, motorists pointed to get these cars moving again.

Firemen were greatly handicapped by the wind-blown smoke in the basement of the building and some donned gas masks. Smoke caused considerable damage in an adjoining shoe store and poured out of buildings in Washington street.

20 Saved, 5 Overcome in South End Blaze

Five persons, including a nine-month-old baby, were overcome by smoke and most of them were rescued from a burning building in West Canton street, South End, today, in the heart of one of Boston's most congested districts.

Firemen, Edward Kelly and Nicholas Kennedy, discovered the blaze in the four-story brick dwelling.

Kelly ran to arouse the sleeping dwellers, while Kennedy rushed for the nearest fire box.

Edward Woods, 27, was carried, unconscious, four flights to the street, by Kelly, where Dr. Joseph Dwyer, police surgeon, revived him. He had been overcome by smoke.

Little William Atkins, a nine-month-old baby, was overcome by smoke and was rescued by Kelly. Mrs. Betty McDermott, Mrs. Betty McDermott and Mrs. William C. Atkins, the landlady.

The fire, authorities said, started as the result of a short circuit on the ground floor.

Flames, sucked into the draft created by the stairwell, mounted rapidly to the top floor and were biting into the roof when firemen arrived.

Four Atkins children, who were sleeping in the room, were taken to safety by police and firemen. They are Edward, 15; Betty, 13; Philip, 12; and Ruth, 10.

thy of Savin street, Roxbury, a well known brewer, was the advent of prohibition in 1919.

Service of the writ is expected to be made upon Kennedy when he arrives here from Washington to speak at a chamber of commerce luncheon tomorrow.

McCarthy alleges that in the spring of 1933 he first told Kennedy of a plan to secure the New England territory of the National Distillers Products Corporation, which controls a large part of the distilled spirits output of the United States.

He alleges that Kennedy promised to assist on the condition that Kennedy would receive a personal share but, owing to his other interests and lack of knowledge of distribution, would not actively engage in the business.

An agreement was reached whereby the profits would be split equally, the bill reads.

"On information and belief," McCarthy alleges, that while Kennedy was representing himself as a partner in the venture, McCarthy was getting it for his own profit and that a corporation was organized and an agency in New England was secured and that Kennedy retained a majority of the stock.

McCarthy charges that Kennedy broke his agreement by not turning over to him 50 per cent of the profits and that he is entitled to 50 per cent of the profits and 50 per cent of the stock.

Kennedy is a former Boston president of Harvard, who, at the age of 25, was a bank president here. Since then, he has been prominently in the motion picture field and other large-scale industrial enterprises, and is now more in the limelight than ever before, as the "Washington of the Stock Market."

COLE HEADS RACE BOARD

Promoters had already filed into an open row that is rapidly spreading to the political scene, according to State House observers.

This was verified by Representative Francis X. Coyne of Dorchester, who was escorted with the Governor for more than half an hour early this afternoon.

"I submitted the original bill to legalize racing in this State, so I am interested in these appointments. For the last few weeks there have been rumors in the State House circles that Walter O'Hara, owner of the Narragansett track at Pawtucket, R. I., would be in control of racing in Massachusetts."

"I am convinced that these rumors have foundation in fact, and I shall file a bill to strip this new commission of its powers and to transfer them to some other department."

Coyne, however, added that he felt such action might not be necessary because he was convinced that the Republican members of the council will not approve the Rly. nominations.

J. Frank Curtin of Abington, medical examiner of the Second Plymouth District, replacing John Osgood, deceased.

William J. Peletier of Turners Falls, associate medical examiner of Eastern Franklin District, replacing Richard A. McCall, deceased.

REPLACEMENTS

The Washington SIDESHOW

By GEORGE R. BROWN (Copyright, 1934, by Universal Service)

Washington, Nov. 14 (AP)—The celebrity with which the byzantine intrigues of the New Deal ketowed to Senator Bill Borah the instant the great north wind began roaring about the waste and extravagance of federal relief, strikingly illustrates two important things.

One is that Borah has assumed a party leadership in Washington without waiting for any of his leaders to tell him to. The other is that a constituent at present the administration in Washington is invulnerable to any investigation of his policies, plans and expenditures that is not forced by Washington.

The administration, having strangle hold on both houses of Congress, with one exception no instrumentality exists at either end of the Capitol for any investigation the administration doesn't want, or compels the administration to agree to investigations or inquiries by congressional committees. The significance of his criticism of waste in public relief lies in the fact that he is confident he can create this public opinion and vocalize it. The exception noted above is the appropriating committees.

Plenty of Data

Borah has more facts to back up his charges than the relief agencies probably realize. He has been gathering data. Comparative little of it relates to his own state of Idaho. He has dug down into the records of the Federal Reserve Board. Don't get the idea it is going to be a radical party where it can obtain the facts about waste and extravagance in the doing out of relief, but it will be a very constructive.

It is often said of Borah in Washington—but ignorantly—that he is a "superficial critic." Where ask his superficial critics, he is a "Borah" law, bearing his name about waste and extravagance in the doing out of relief, but it will be a very constructive.

When Senator Borah declares the Republican party must be reformed, he is not merely a party man.

PRICE PUSHED UP IN MET STROKE

Twenty picked officers were hurried to the market district at noon today where trouble was predicted among 1500 butchers and meat cutters who went on strike at 4 a. m.

This emergency force increased a great deal by noon, and the officers were in the vicinity of Pennell Hall.

Inspectors Benjamin Goodman and William Gorman directed the force to strategic points along the streets to be ready to concentrate anywhere in the district at a moment's notice.

The strike followed an early morning meeting at Hanover street headquarters of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen, Local 278.

The workers demand a 20 per cent increase in pay, a work week of 40 hours and recognition of the union.

John J. Walsh of Chicago, International Brotherhood of the Meat Canners' 1904-1905 and 1902-1903, announced the workers would hold out until all demands were met.

Without a work week of 40 hours a serious meat shortage might develop, and the city would be faced with a shortage of meat for the winter.

Representatives of four of the major packing companies promised, however, that no shortage would result from labor stoppage.

One said:

"Greater Boston consumers can use a lot of fresh meat supply and the various organizations are ready to operate, if necessary under police guard, the delivery of fresh meat to clubs, hotels, restaurants and retailers throughout this area."

A survey last night showed that there are enough fresh meats on hand and on order for at least 15 days.

"Prices will not be increased because of any labor trouble," Walsh said he asked the members of the union have always enjoyed clear delivery of meat, and they intend to avoid any action that would lose them the good name.

He said the average pay at present is $15 a week for as much as 55 to 75 hours work. Some, he said, are paid as little as $15 a week.

Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation; Marjorie S. Erbes, governor of the Federal Reserve Board; and James A. Moffett, housing administrator.

The President said in response to inquiry that he knew of no step to move to increase public control over public utilities.

He added that the list of public utilities was under study by a special committee appointed some time ago.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation has ample funds for its needs, but the relief administration and public works must ask Congress for more money if they continue fully operative through the winter.

Approximately $500,000,000 is available to the relief administration. Officials estimated that would last until March at the present rate of disbursement.

The Public Works Administration has a few hundred million in unallotted funds. A large amount has been allotted but has not been actually disbursed.

Chairman Fletcher of the Senate building committee conferred with President Roosevelt later and said banking legislation would be deferred. He expressed the opinion none of major importance was employed to correlate treasury financing plans and demands of leading agencies.

All loans made by the various agencies must be a direct cash withdrawal from the Treasury and must be repaid by the borrower to supply funds borrowing must be arranged to keep Treasury reserves full despite heavy emergency demands.

The Treasury department also will be influenced by plans of the various lending agencies so will be the tax program.

A Little Tardy

The press is endlessly filled with Washington dispatches reciting how Horatio Greenough's famous statue of George Washington, by rescuing the father of his country, had made the toga of a Roman Senator, and which stood for many years in the east plaza of the Capitol, has been removed from its accustomed place in the Smithsonian.

Aside from the fact that the statue was removed in 1908, the story is quite up to date.

This Winter to Be as Cold as Last, Say Experts

By Associated Press.

Washington, Nov. 14—Parts of the United States are due for an abnormally warm winter—IF. Weather bureau men advised using capital letters on that "IF" today as they commented on the possibilities. They acknowledged they have not yet learned to forecast weather for an entire winter, but:

If the present warm cycle which has kept average temperatures high for 25 consecutive months of the United States will have abnormally warm weather.

If present temperature trends continue to parallel those of last year, comparatively warm weather will prevail throughout the country, except for the Northeast.

The winters of 1931-32 and 1932-33 were abnormally warm, except in the Northeast. Then the cold wave shifted to the Northeast in the winter of 1933-34 with a change in polar air masses.
